

CONDITIONS IN RUSSIA TOLD BY "Y" WORKER

L. A. MARKHAM WITH Y. M. C. A. FORCES IN RUSSIA TELLS OF CONDITIONS IN WAR TORN COUNTRY

RUGGLES HAS CHARGE

Spokes of Meeting Former Janesville Man Who Is in Charge of Military Mission in That Country

L. A. Markham of this city who is with the Y. M. C. A. forces in Russia has written a very interesting and instructive letter from Archangel, describing in detail the conditions of war torn Russia.

Mr. Markham in his letter speaks of Colonel Ruggles who is in charge of the military mission to Russia. He is a former Janesville man, and Ruggles lived in Janesville for many years and was in the city on a visit shortly before going to Russia.

In his letter also Mr. Markham tells of the work of the Y. M. C. A. He states that owing to the lack of English speaking people in Russia, it is necessary for the Y. M. C. A. to be responsible for the morale of the troops. His letter follows:

Nov. 4, 1918.

Tonight we have received some very good news about the war, and as you know I have something to rejoice about or something needing counsel, I came to you to talk it over. The withdrawal of Turkey from the war must mean that very soon the war will end—and we here are wondering what will happen to Russia. Still she continues to be a great puzzle.

When we arrived here we found that we could not enter the interior, consequently I was unable to do the work with the peasants, for which I was sent. However, I arrived at a time when a work perhaps more needed than with the peasants. A large number of allied troops here make the Y. M. C. A. work almost essential. There are numbers of troops, and one can only appreciate the value of the work by seeing the way in which the soldiers take advantage of the Y. M. C. A. work here. There are practically no amusements, the atmosphere is cold and gray, the people cannot speak the language of any of the allies who have come here, and we do not have the exhilaration of victory to buoy the men up, as in France. Consequently the Y. M. C. A. is largely responsible for the morale of the troops here, and our program is quite comprehensive. At the Archangel club where I work, we have concerts, lectures, classes, a canteen, reading room and writing room, and athletic events, besides our religious meetings. A sample week's program is the one planned for this week. Tonight the instrumental band gave a concert and we attended while at 300 seats in canteen, reading room, etc. While the concert was on we had a Russian class for French troops. Tomorrow night we have English class for French troops, Russian class for English, besides a boxing bout. Wednesday we have an educational lecture on Russia, by a man who has been here for four years. Thursday is a French night and a movie. Friday is Athletic night and on Saturday we have a concert, partly in Russian and partly in English, arranged by a Russian musician. Along with these special events, we have our writing room and music room also. Hardly a day passes with less than a thousand letters at the club here, so you see that the Y. M. C. A. must do much to keep up a healthy wholesome spirit under the depressing, rather corrupt conditions found here.

Y. M. I know, are interested in Russia, but I am not permitted to say much. Conditions, as far as food goes, are very bad. The allies supply most of the food here, but in villages away people are hungry and dying by the score because of undernourishment. In one village visited by a Red Cross friend of mine, in which case relief was given, 300 out of 1200 population had died. The attitude of the people is quite friendly, but lacks enthusiasm. They are tired of war, hungry, and very much in doubt as to what will come out of all this chaos, so they are naturally indifferent. The revolution gave the workmen freedom, so they strike when so inclined and work only under strong persuasion. The women do much heavy work, seem happy, and may be an important factor here yet. The Russians seem to like the Americans the best of all the allies and want us to show, through the schools, pictures of America, to go so far as to say in conversation on the streets that America is the savior of Russia. It is not common to have children take pictures of American soldiers and sailors. American goods are good. Many times has this happened to me.

The military people are very appreciative of the Y. M. C. A. and treat our secretaries extremely well, furnishing us with the regular military ration and other things to make us comfortable.

The country up here is vast and covered with timber, which affords work for many saw mills. It seems that many of the mills have shut at work, at least along the river. I have seen an immense amount of lumber.

At Ruggles, head of the military mission, is a former Janesville man, whom you may know. On his way out, his mission was most heartily received, by perhaps fifty officers, E. M. J. folks and other Americans here. Sincerely,

L. A. Markham.

MEETING OF WORLD WIDE GUILD ENJOYED

There was a meeting held last evening of the World Wide Guild and the Epiphany class of the Baptist Sunday school at the home of Mrs. J. P. Pittsford. About forty girls were present and a delicious supper was served at 5:30 o'clock.

A program on "Congress of Women" was given during the evening. The direction of Mrs. C. E. Schwartz. It was supposed to be a conference where women from different countries told what their women had done to help along the war. Mrs. Mary Shurtz, Miss Lorraine Eller of the Turkish women, Miss Belle Davis of the Italian women, Miss Florence Crissey of the Chinese women, Miss Francis of the Japanese, and Miss Francis of the work of the missionaries in educating them in their duties and privileges.

It was shown that nearly all of them had been doing Red Cross work, and that the war work and women's work were common among them.

Miss Lorraine Eller sang a song, "The Gypsies Caravan" and Miss Florence Crissey played the piano. After the singing, Miss Belle Campbell gave a humorous reading, "News-Printer's Reading," which was very enjoyable.

Relations With South America Reason for U. S. Senate Probe

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The whole course of this country's relations with the republics of Central and South America is expected to come under investigation by the senate foreign relations committee, as a result of the committee's decision to learn why the state department has withheld recognition from the present government of Costa Rica.

So interwoven are the affairs of Costa Rica with those of the nations that are its neighbors that it will be impossible to look into American relations with one without investigating this country's dealings with all others. All the documents relating to the case of Costa Rica have been sent to the senate foreign relations committee by Secretary of State Lansing. They will be examined by a special sub-committee, of which Senator John Sharp Williams is chairman today.

Sensational developments which will justify this country's course in refusing recognition to the present government of Costa Rica are expected by foreign relations committee members. One charge will be substantiated by the state department, is that an American corporation instigated the revolution in Costa Rica, that put President Tinoco, the present executive, in power.

Gonzales, the former president of Costa Rica, who was ousted by Tinoco, is in New York and probably will be called as a witness before the committee. Laval, secretary of foreign affairs in the Gonzales cabinet, on which Tinoco served as minister of war, is in Washington. He has submitted a brief to the foreign relations committee making sensational charges which he will be called upon to substantiate.

The American corporation that is charged with furnishing the inspiration and funds for the Tinoco revolution is charged with similar activities in other Central American and South American countries. The reason given for the Tinoco revolution in statements made by Gonzales, is that the American corporation wished to secure from Tinoco dockage concessions that had been refused by the former administration.

President Wilson's address in his message to congress, that the treaty with Colombia be ratified at this session of Congress, will precipitate an investigation of this affair when the Republicans come into power.

Presidents of eight South American and Central American governments who have been ousted from their positions now are in New York, all nursing a grievance against the United States and seeking redress. When the investigation gets in full swing all of these are expected to be heard.

Among them is former President Gomez of Cuba, with his charge that Menocal, the present president of the Cuban republic, is pro-German and frequently has been seen visiting a German banking house in Havana late at night. Involved in the dispute between Gomez and Menocal is an Italian named Farrara, who has been co-operating with allied agents in Cuba, but who is charged by Menocal with being a German agent.

The investigation proposed by the senate foreign relations committee would be for the purpose of determining whether this government has been "sincere, consistent and wholly altruistic" in its dealings with Latin America, according to the statement of one member of the committee today.

The general charge that American corporations have been permitted to commit "trade depredations" of the gravest character, have proliferated in Latin American peoples, and in this have not been restrained by the American state department, also would be thoroughly investigated.

Charges of pro-Germanism are involved in practically all the present Latin-American disputes. An investigation is now being made by the state department of the activities of the consul and vice consul at Guanajuato, as a result of charges made by war trade board and military intelligence officers. These officers, which were first submitted to the senate foreign relations committee, include too close relations with a German banking house, which failed to check overdrafts on its accounts.

FLORENCE CAMP HELD
AN ANNUAL ELECTION

Florence Camp, No. 366, a Modern Woodmen of America, held an election of officers on last evening with the following results: V. C. J. W. Van Beynum; W. A. Geo. W. Chase; Banker, O. S. Hower; Clerk T. L. Mason; Watchman, J. G. Brecher; Sentry, J. S. Hill; escort, R. V. Knox; Trustee for three years, L. L. Nickerson.

There was a large attendance and much interest manifested in the affairs. Plans were formulated looking towards an increased attendance at the future meetings. Apples were passed and a social hour enjoyed after the business session. The new clerk has made arrangements whereby dues can be paid, at the same office where they have been for the last two months and the books will be kept there for the present at least.

ROCK PRAIRIE

Rock Prairie, Dec. 9.—Among those who attended the live stock exposition in Chicago last week were D. J. Meloy, R. W. Lamb, F. A. Hadden, W. B. Austin, Robert Lamb, John Meloy, Merle McCartney and Mr. and Mrs. George Austin.

Miss Isabelle Menzies is spending some time in Milwaukee and Chicago. Miss Helen McLaughlin entertained the members of her Sunday school class last Saturday afternoon.

The conservation meeting held at the U. S. chamber last Friday evening was well attended. The addresses given by Mrs. O. C. Colony of Evansville and A. E. Matheson of Janesville were very instructive and enjoyable.

S. A. Converse of Cresco, Ia., spent a few days last week with friends here.

This community will be canvassed in the coming Red Cross membership drive and it is important that every one realize the necessity of subscribing or renewing his or her membership. Though we have peace, the work of the Red Cross must be kept up indefinitely both at home and abroad. So make it easier for the committee by being willing to join in this important work.

"But 'Toones is here," Vida indicated the dog playing around the shed. "She came back quite awhile ago with this in her mouth."

Vida help up the torn and dirty remnants of what had been Lucile's kimono.

"That's Lucile's kimono?" I cried. An idea struck me. "What was she wearing under that?"

"I helped her put on my costume," Vida roushared, "the one that was dying in the shed. It fits her beautifully."

"Then I presume that you will find Lucile over there behind that clump of bushes," I hazarded in a loud tone. There was a sound of branches breaking and leaves rustling as if some one were beating a hasty retreat.

"Oh, I see!" Light dawned on Vida. "Just let her alone. She'll get used to them in an hour or so. You do feel kind of funny at first. Now about that breakfast."

"Yes," Bopp chimed in, "produce that feast you were speaking of. With the dog in sight, well take a chance on anything you're prepared."

"Sail ho!" cried Jim.

"Where be she?" demanded his superior.

"Coming around the point," Jim replied.

Sure enough, a fat little tugboat was nosing her way comfortably through the waves into the cove. "It's the revenue cut!" exclaimed Captain Perkins, whose knowledge of lake craft was naturally superior to that of the rest of us.

"A revenue tug?" Bopp repeated. "What is she doing here?"

"Let's go and find out."

The tug came in as far as she dared, and then an officer came ashore in a dinghy.

"Pardon me, ladies and gentlemen," he began suavely, taking no notice of our disheveled appearance. "I am the revenue officer in charge of this district."

A cry from the tug startled us.

"What's that?" we exclaimed.

The yell was repeated, this time with a smothered hiss.

"It's just a couple of prisoners we captured this morning," explained the officer.

"We are very glad to see you and your boat," Bopp stated, doing the honors. "We have had a terrible fire here, and if you will set us safely ashore at Fair View we shall be forever in your debt."

"I'm sorry," he replied, "but I cannot carry your party as passengers. Being on government service, my duties are very exacting. However, I shall be glad to notify the first vessel I meet and request them to call for you."

"But, man," Bopp exclaimed, "we have been without anything to eat for three days! Surely you can't refuse to take us to some place where food may be had."

"You forget that I have provided food," I interposed.

"I'm trying to forget it," Bopp replied, with ungracious impatience. "I want regular food."

"The lake is calming down," the officer pointed out, "and you can surely get ashore. As it happens, we are hot on the trail of a gang of smugglers, and if we delay now this chief operator may escape us. He is posing as a telephone repair man employed by the local company in Fair View, but merely uses that position to cloak his criminal operations. He was sent to Green's island before the storm and has not reported back to the office, so we presume that he is here now."

By a common impulse we looked for Kent. He was not among us. Apparently he had waited to hear no more after Captain Perkins had identified the boat as in the government revenue service.

"I can't believe that he is a smuggler," Vida argued. "She, like the rest of us, had conceived a liking for the young man whose career had been so varied and interesting. 'He doesn't look like a smuggler.'"

"I'm afraid that is no way to tell," the revenue officer said pleasantly. "The worst smugglers we have are society people. We captured two of his accomplices on Huntingdon's island this morning, and when we get him we shall have wiped out one of the worst gangs of smugglers operating across the border."

At the mention of Huntingdon's island we all pricked up our ears. What connection did the smugglers have with the disappearance of Mrs. Green and Lipton S. Clair?

How This Fine Family of Seven Children Keeps Healthy

Mother Depends on Father John's Medicine—For Colds, Coughs and Body Building

No Alcohol or Dangerous Drugs

"For the last four years whenever any of our seven children have had colds, we gave them Father John's Medicine," writes Klaus Zandstra of Paterson, N. J.

"We have used it for all of the children and they have been greatly benefited by taking Father John's Medicine for colds and body-building. Crowded with nourishment and warmth-giving, strength-building elements, Father John's Medicine is also guaranteed free from alcohol or dangerous drugs, and is, therefore, a safe reliable family medicine."

"I had to gag the dame," explained the marshal. "She kept yelling all the time."

The look which the disheveled lady in the red ball gown cast upon Uncle Sam's representative probably burned a hole in his aura which will never heal up.

"Remove the gag," the revenue officer commanded.

"Wait," Vida requested, "wait until after I have identified her."

That was a wonderful inspiration on Vida's part. As the two women had never set eyes on each other before, Mrs. Green might not address Vida as her own offspring as soon as the power of speech was restored to her.

"If you say she is your mother it is all right," said Vida's new conquest gallantly. "You may remove the handkerchief yourself if you like. I trust your mother will forgive us for our blunder. Can you identify the gentleman too?"

"She doesn't know me," Clair muttered, with a look of terror. "I don't want to be identified."

"I ought to know him," Vida replied wickedly. "I am seriously considering an offer of marriage from him."

"Let him go, then," the revenue man directed.

"I don't want to be released."

"You have to be," The officer silenced him sternly.

"How about the telephone man?" Cochran, the marshal, inquired. "I've got to get one prisoner anyway, or I won't dare show up in Detroit."

"We'll arrest him, all right," the other reassured him. "He's on the island somewhere. It's only a question of searching. Now, gentlemen," turning to us, "it will save any unpleasantness if you will point out which one of you is in the employ of the telephone company. If not I shall be forced to ask all of you who cannot prove who you are to accompany me."

There was no answer. No one of us was anxious to turn informer.

"I have a description of Horace Blinn," said the officer, "although at present he is traveling under the name of Kent. Height, five feet four inches; slender, dark hair and eyes."

"Excuse me," interrupted Bopp. "What are you going to do with the smuggler when you get him?"

"We shall have to take him to Detroit and thence to the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan."

"Miss Ghoans," urged the hostess, "do have some more ice cream."

"Oh, sir," ejaculated the junior. "Why, I was using it only an hour ago!"

"Then, thundered the employer, how comes it that there's a spider on the machine and that he's woven a web over the keyboard?"

"Sir," remarked the lad, "I'll tell the truth. There was a fly in the works of that machine. Rather than waste my time in entrapping the insect, sir, I—er—introduced the spider."

HEARD FROM OUR SOLDIERS AND SAILORS

Thomas Condon.
Thomas E. Condon of Company C, First Division, Motor Supply Trains, writes, Oct. 31, to his brother, Patrick Condon, of 1014 Pleasant street, and includes an article from the paper in which a German officer gives great praise to the First Division of American troops of which he is a member. He declared the Germans did not believe the Americans could produce such a feat within five years, a division such as they found in the First Division. The German officer had seen four years of severe fighting. This is what he said, as printed in the Paris paper: "I received orders to hold the ground at all cost. The American barrage advanced toward my position and the work of our artillery was marvelous. The barrage was so intense that it was impossible for us to move out of our dugouts. Following the barrage closely were the troops of the First Division. I saw them force ahead and knew all was lost. All night long I saw my dugout, hoping vainly that something would happen that would permit me to rejoin my army. This morning your troops found me and I am a prisoner. Yesterday I knew that the first division was opposite us, and I knew that we would have to put up the hardest fight of the war. The German army knows it. It might be noted that the majority of the enlisted men of Company M from Janesville were transferred to that division after their arrival in France."

John McDiarmid.
Corporal John McDiarmid of Company M, 128 Infantry, writes home telling that he is back with his company again after being in the hospital for some time. The letter follows:
"October 23.—I have been back with the company for some time. Just got back in time to move up and go over the edge with the boys. It was a long way out but worth the trouble to see the Hun run. As yet they have not done a great deal of damage to me so I am not worried. I have had my hand to hand with Fritz yet as he is always in a hurry to get home, but now and then a bullet catches up with him. I know just how far one bullet will go. I had one marked Fritz and it did its duty. It was Aug. 28 when they landed one on me, but I was lucky to get in the way of just one.

"The other day we went to get rid of our codies and had a swell bath, new socks and new underwear. I thought I had all the codies controlled by A. E. F., but the general said he found a few. I saw I was mistaken. This is a wonderful world—mud knee deep, most of the time cool weather, codies and Huns to chase as he goes. I am still alive, so I guess it is not bad after all."
"Corp. John McDiarmid."

Wilfred Lloyd.

AMERICANS HAVE STRONG NERVES

Nervousness and Nerve Troubles on the Decline

"Nothing wrong but your nerves" is a saying that is fast dying out in this country. While nerve trouble is no longer a disease, a leading nerve specialist remarked: "A man or woman might better let his nerves have a shattered nervous system."

Overwork and worry drains the nerve cells of their reserve strength and then follows the sleepless night, indigestion, poor appetite, impure blood, and general nervous breakdown.

The thing to do in such cases is no longer to "hold out" but to get the patients who know from their own experience the value of Phosphated Iron. This is the only nerve food and blood builder will strengthen and brace up the whole nervous system, because Phosphated Iron gives the tired, hungry, worn-out nerve cells phosphates and iron in a form easily and quickly absorbed; and one happy result: you can almost feel it taking hold of the nerves and blood, after a short time you will feel that your life seems a pleasure and worth living once again.

In every section where Phosphated Iron has been used there has been a big decrease of nerve troubles and it will prove a welcome relief to every sufferer from nervousness, nervousness, nervousness, nervousness, nervousness.

To insure physicians prescribing the genuine Phosphated Iron, do not take any substitutes, do not take any.

—MORRIS MILLER—

St. Sanborn, Chicago baseball scribbles has dug up some more interesting dope and the part baseball players played in the war. He got his statistics from the files of Secretary Heydler of the National League. He says that more than half the baseball players were actually on the payrolls of the eight National league clubs for the greater part of the season of 1918 were up to the time the armistice was declared. In the military and naval service of the United States.

Just 103 of its players denied the claim of the time. This means action in the service in the army, navy or aviation. The total number of players reserved for the season of 1918 was 257, and over forty percent of that number joined the colors. But of the players who actually reported to their clubs and went on the payrolls sixty-four percent went into active service in the war.

Two of them were killed in action. Marcus Millican, a young pitcher, was killed by a bullet in an airplane accident. Capt. Edward Grant, acting major, fell at the head of a "batallion" that was trying to rescue the "lost battalion" in the Arizona desert. The 103 players who entered service were mostly men who took part in championship games of 1917 or 1918, or the twenty who did not play in either season. Eighteen had joined their respective teams and were full fledged major league players.

The number does not include three men from the executive branch of baseball who enlisted in the chemical warfare service. Percy Daughton of Boston and Walter of St. Louis received commissions as nurses and Christy Mathewson of Cincinnati was made captain in that branch of the service. All three were sent overseas.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, former club pitcher, was alive and well four days before the armistice was declared, and at that time expected to be back in the country in time to make the 1919 spring training trip with the north side club. Alexander's regiment, however, is with the American army of occupation in Germany, which may delay his return until the middle of the season. This information was sent to Club headquarters recently in a letter from Mrs. Alexander, who is wintering in Newport, Ky. She wrote that she had just received word from her husband, dated November 7, that he was safe and sound to date.

She wrote that the firing line at the time, however, and the club officials will not feel sure of the pitching prowess of Alex the Great for the next season until some thing is heard from him after the armistice date.

One of the greatest all around football players of the year was Arthur Bluthenthal, 13, reving center of the Princeton team of 1911, and All-American center. Bluthenthal, who volunteered for the ambulance corps, was killed in action in the war, and won the French War Cross for his bravery at Salonika. He transferred to the French air service and was shot down and killed while on a bombing expedition.

Just what a prominent part the club pitchers played in the bringing of the National League pennant to Chicago is shown by the fact that three shutouts registered by Chicago pitchers during the season. Of this number, eight shutouts were performed by Vaughn and ten by the pitcher, Vaughn is tied with Burelling.

CAPT. KIMBER WAS READY TO DIE OF CONSUMPTION

Doctors Told Him So, but He Is Gaining Strength and Health—Tells How.

"My case of tuberculosis was an advanced one, of over five years' standing. Was in a tuberculosis hospital for over a year and returned home worse than when I went. I had to give up a good position in New York City and move up into the back hills. I remained on the advice of my physician.

"The doctors said I was ready to die a year ago. I was so weak I could hardly stand up.

"I began taking Mils Emulsion last October. I have now taken 18 large bottles and my gain in health and strength has been steady. I am now able to walk to the village three miles and back, and chop a little wood every day.

"I used to fill a sputum box once a day and my cough was continual. Now I do not notice enough to fill a sputum box in a week. I do not cough any during the day; only when I get up in the morning.

"When I first began taking Mils Emulsion, I couldn't take a deep breath without coughing. Now I can take in draughts of air without coughing. I had six hemorrhages prior to last October, but since taking Mils Emulsion I have been practically free from hemorrhage.

"I have been treated by thirteen different doctors and spent all my money trying to find a cure. The doctors all told me that there was no medicine that could do this, so I was very skeptical about trying even the first bottle of Mils Emulsion. But was persuaded to try it by a nurse who told me of two positive cures it had effected in her own family.

"Thank God, I tried it. I began to feel a beneficial effect only ten hours after I started taking it. I am continuing its use, feeling pretty sure it will effect a cure in my case, as I am steadily improving. The advanced stage of my disease had been arrested, and this is making my recovery slower than if I had attacked it earlier.

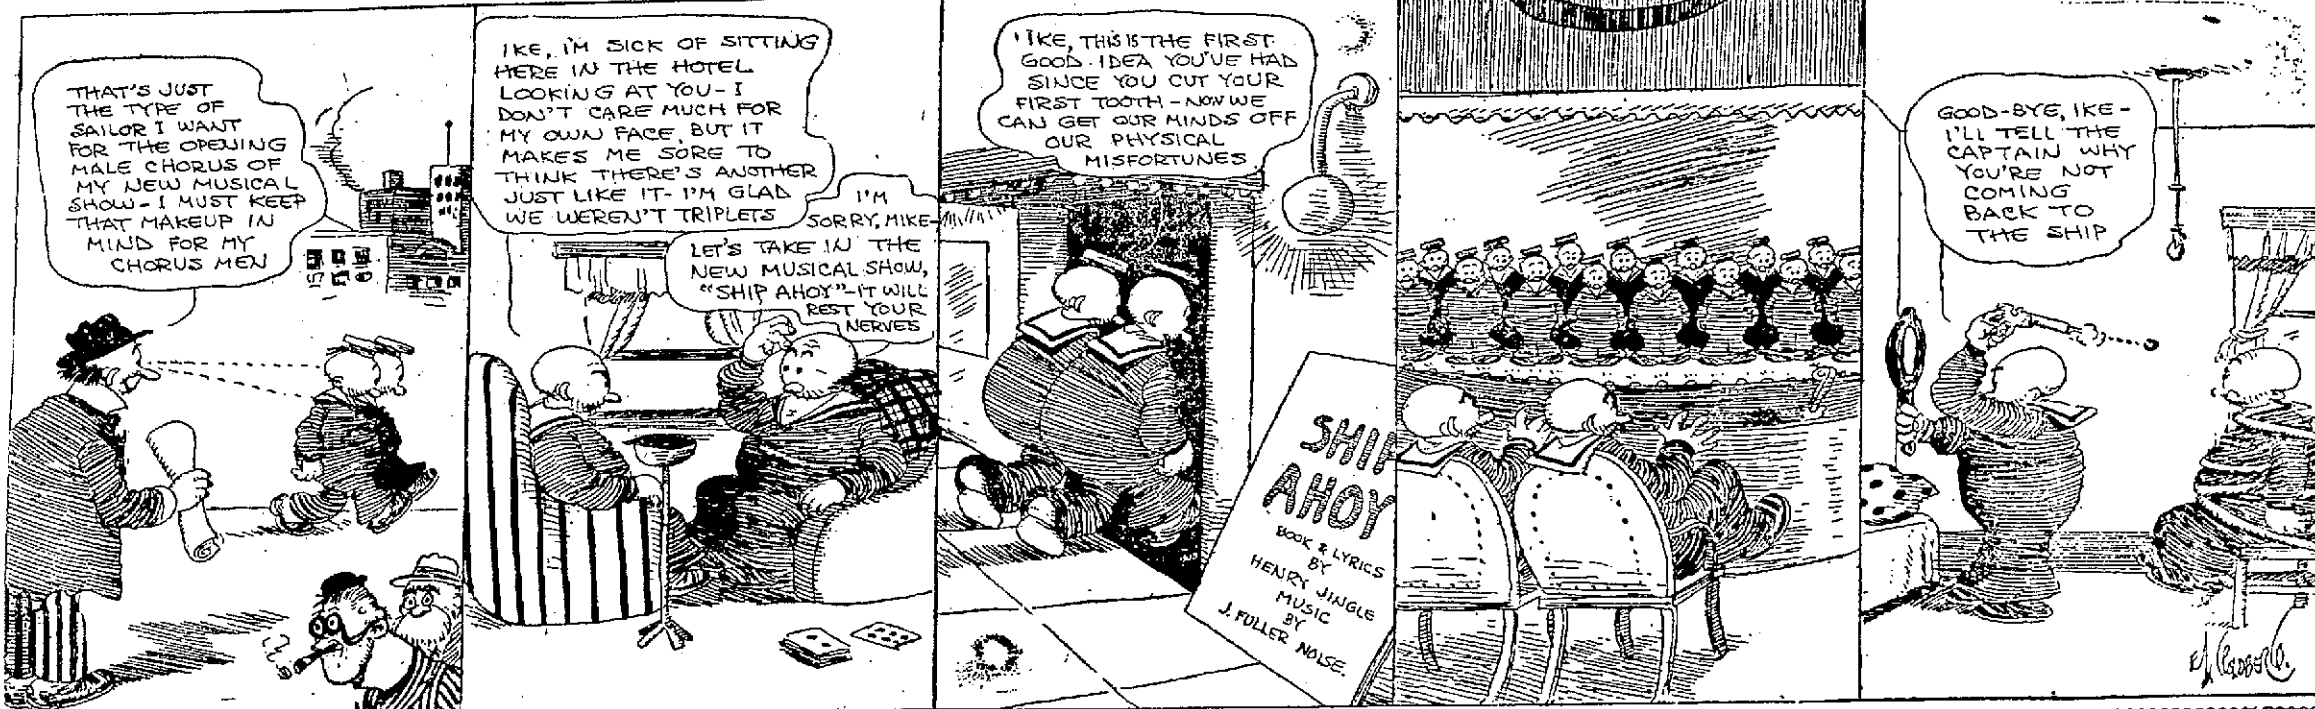

"Capt. Frederick E. Kimber, Dutton Lodge, Cairo, N. Y.

"When I wrote this letter, August 1, 1918, I was in a constant gain in strength and health through this wonderful food medicine. It has been duplicated in hundreds of other advance cases. Under the maker's guarantee, every sufferer is welcome to try it without risk.

Mils Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy natural bowel action, drives away with all need of pills and physic. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digested stomach in line with the food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Mils Emulsion is strongly recommended. It has produced amazing results in many cases of tuberculosis of the lungs, chronic cough, chronic trouble and emaciation are promptly relieved—usually in one day. This is the only solid emulsion made, and palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. A truly wonderful medicine for weak, stinky children.

No matter how severe your case is, you are urged to try Mils Emulsion under the guarantee. Take only one bottle with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money is refunded. Price One and $1.20 per bottle. The Mils Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold and guaranteed by J. P. Baker.

Reliable Prescription For the Kidneys

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physician's prescription. Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once. First to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Singhaunton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention the Janesville Daily Gazette.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Daily Gazette, Dec. 10, 1893.—The following extract was taken from the Chicago Tribune: "Janesville wants to be unamputated from exorbitant gas monopolies and have the city illuminated with the electric light. Hurry up, Mr. Edison." Mr. Edison need not get up any earlier morning or any later at night. The county of Janesville, for needs no reputation here.

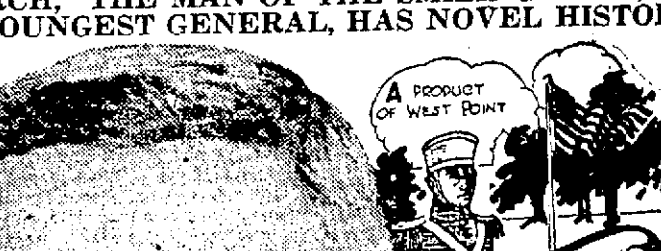

Dr. O'Leary closed his lecture course last evening. He had a crowded house and the audience was full of enthusiasm. His lecture was so good that he thanked the citizens of Janesville for their kindness to him, and took occasion to pay his respects to the owner of the Opera house.

The walkists will tramp over the rough as to right anything that is really an improvement, yet like many other cities there is "no exorbitant gratuity" here. All are satisfied in this respect and the Tribune squib row night. With such speed as Guyon and Olmstead have there will be an interesting match. The amateurs will also start in a five mile trial for a silver cup.

BRING OUT YOUR WEAPON

By MELVILLE DAVISSON
POST.

That appalling damnation—intelligence without humanity—converting a whole people into a predatory monster has descended on the world.

No human institution, fine or noble, is any longer safe. Invasions from a malignant star or fabled beasts breaking up through the crust of the earth could not more awfully threaten us. Every energy of every civilized nation must be assembled for resistance.

An idle dollar is an idle weapon!

How shall we face enslaved men, mutilated children and forlorn women if in this hour of supreme peril we hold back idle in our house a weapon that would have helped to save the world?

HELP THE WORLD TO CLEAN HOUSE

By JAMES MONTGOMERY FLAGG.

Now comes the Fourth Liberty Privilege! The fourth opportunity to Americans to hit a goshalmitly blow at the Hun! The scourge of the world —the fiendish and soulless and mighty machine of evil—that, although most of the nations of the earth are battling against, is still going strong!

It is so powerful that it will take the united strength of all the "white" peoples to crush it.

The biggest and heaviest factor will be the United States of America. We are called by other nations a race of bluffers, blowhards, money grabbers—so we are! We bluffed at the beginning. But though we bragged and have always left modesty to others, we are now making good our boasts—we are proving that when we said we could do certain things we were merely telling the truth. We have threatened mighty things and now we are calmly doing these mighty things. We may not be as modest as 100,000,000 victims, but when we are hot under the neckband we can deliver "some" heavy punch!

We are money grabbers. But how lucky for our allies that fact is! If it had not been for our money, Germany would have been victorious some time ago.

We are gradually, steadily, relentlessly expanding our might.

We are a red, white and blue glacier, that will finally suffocate Prussianism.

The wealthy have not needed exhortation, argument, persuasion to invest in Liberty bonds—they quietly and immediately take all they can get—they know what's what in investments
—that's why they are wealthy. Enough said.

The world is cleaning house. Its house is alive with crawling Teutonic vermin—vermin that if not destroyed will make the house uninhabitable and kill off its dwellers.

You are not asked to set the traps—use the clubs, spray the powder—but you are asked to pay for those traps, clubs and powder, so that others may wield these weapons for you, so that you and your family and your family's families, your loved ones may live in a decent house forever.

Your house is the United States.
The vermin is Germany. We will not allow the vermin to overrun our house
—as it will if not stamped out.

We are not pikers—no one can ever say that of us. We are not asleep!

Our soldiers, sailors and marines buy Liberty bonds by the millions, men who have offered their all to the great and holy cause! None of us have to be shamed by them into doing our least!
When the window opens where they sell the Fourth Loan of Bonds be there in line. Your bonds are reserved seats to the great spectacle of "Final Victory." The date of the performance to be announced later!
